■ Why GMU? A Choice to Success in Medical Career!

- Founded in 1938, Guizhou Medical University (GMU) was originally known as the National Guiyang Medical College. It was one of the nine national medical colleges under the Ministry of Education at that time. GMU has two campuses covering 134 thousands square feet, and owns 4 direct affiliated hospitals, 8 non-affiliated hospitals, 12 teaching hospitals, and 20 teaching. GMU has developed into a higher education institute of medicine with influence and reputation in China from the perspective of scale, structure, quality and efficiency.
- GZU has one discipline selected for China's Double First Class Initiative, one national-level key discipline, two discipline teams affiliated with universities through provincial-ministerial collaborations tailored to the needs of local industries, nine national first-class disciplines, and seven regional first-class disciplines. According to the latest ESI data, GZU has six disciplines among the global top 1%. Moreover, there are 84 first-class majors under the Double Ten Thousand Plan, of which 52 are at the national level. The University offers 19 first-level discipline doctoral programs, one professional doctoral degree program, 52 first-level master's degree programs, and 24 professional master's degree programs.
- GMU is also the only key provincial university in Guizhou Province that offers a complete medical training system: from Bachelor, Master, to Doctor of Medicine.
- Graduated students from Guizhou Medical University are eligible to take medical licensing exams of USA, UK, IRELAND, USMLE, HPCSA, SCHS, CANADA, AUSTRALIA, PAKISTAN and MIDDLE EAST.
- 23 Award's for science and technology at the provincial level, including
 - One top prize in Science and Technology Award;
 - Three first prizes (two for Science and Technology Award and one for Technological Invention);
 - Seven second prizes (one for Natural Science Award and six for Technological Improvement Award);
